THE TIDE WILL TURN IF YOU RIDE A WEE.

The skipper stood on the windy pier, "O, mate," he said "set every sail! For love is sweet if true and dear. But bitter is love if love must fail." "So hurry, skipper, to put to sea!" The wind is foul and the water low; But the tide will turn if you wait a wee. And you'll get 'Yes' where you got 'No.' The skipper turned again with a smile, And he found his love in a better mood; For she had time to think the while. "I shall find you worse for one as good." So the tide was turned and he got "Yes." The sails were filled and the wind was fair. Don't limit the pleasant words I pray: They are for every one every where. The tide will turn if you wait a wee; And cool'st not lost if but deferred; Supposing your plans have gone a-cry, Don't fly away like a frightened bird. Say that you've asked a favor in vain. To-morrow may be a better day. The tide of fortune may turn again, And you'll get "Yes" where you got "No." The tide will turn if the thing you mind Is worth the waiting and worth the cost; If you seek and seek until you find, Then your labor will never be lost. For waiting is often working, you see, And though the water may now be low The tide will turn if you ride a wee, And you'll get "Yes" where you got "No." —Hager's Weekly.

Editorial Notes.

SENATOR INGALLS is said to be writing a political novel, the scenes of which are laid in Washington.

In Montana the snow is three feet deep on a level and coal is $80 a ton. Kansas is pretty sunny after all.

The Champion says that with all his brilliancy, the late Henry Clay Dean was a failure because he "loved Bourbonism and hated soap."

The President has vetoed the bill granting a pension to all the dependent soldiers. This Administration has mighty little use for the old soldiers.

In the State Oratorical Contest held last week at Ottawa Baker University was a valedictorian the first place and Washburn College the second place.

The December payment of pensions at the Topeka office amounted to $1,010,008. Three hundred and sixty new names were added to the rolls in January.

The Missouri Legislature has refused to submit a prohibitory amendment to a vote of the people. It is no use trying to persuade a Missouri Legislature that the world moves.

The Rev. Sam Jones refused to address a gathering of newspaper men in Boston. He evidently recognizes that his true mission is to call sinners and not the righteous to repentance.

Our latest acquaintance in the newspaper line is the Hepler (Crawford County) Banner, published by H. F. Canutt & Son. It is well edited and has an advertising patronage that promises to keep it waving in good style.

The legislature has been giving considerable attention to the question of silk culture, and a joint committee of the two houses appointed to investigate the subject, has reported favorably a bill appropriating $15,000 to start a silk station.

HENRI WATTERSON says that President Cleveland "is as incapable of receiving impressions as of returning warmth." "Of all the arid natures I ever encountered," says Mr. Watterson, "this is the most arid. He sympathizes with nobody; makes common cause with nobody; and, in the most serious affairs, trusts wholly and solely to fortune or caprice."

The following is the text of the Municipal Suffrage bill:

That in any election hereafter held in any city of the first, second or third class, for the election of city officers, or for the purpose of authorizing the issuance of any bonds for school purposes, the right of any citizen to vote shall not be denied or abridged on account of sex; and women may vote at such elections the same as men, under like restrictions and qualifications.

DR. WILLIAMSON, of Washington, in explaining to the Legislature his vote on the resolution approving Senator Ingalls' speech on the fisheries questions, said that he was an Englishman himself, and he wished to say in answer to Mr. Beattie, that England was a bully, and had been a bully for years, and he rejoiced that Kansas had a United States Senator who had spunk enough to tell the British government that unless they attended to their business and let the United States alone, there would be war.

We notice that there is a bill before the Legislature to reduce the salaries of county officers. It is singular that no session of the Legislature can be held that does not develop some demagogical crank who thinks he can win a little cheap glory by cutting down somebody's salary. The facts are that the salaries of county officers are too low now, rather than too high. It is a rare thing to find a county officer filled by first class talent and the reason is that first class talent can't afford it. The people know this and they don't want the salaries placed at a figure that will give them even a lower rate of ability than they can now employ. There is no popular demand upon the legislature for a reduction of salaries and it would do well to quit its everlasting monkeying with the matter.

WASHINGTON LETTER.
From Our Regular Correspondent.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 4, 1887.

In answer to requests to write more I will take an hour or so this evening. Really, there is little time to use in this way, even my own time, for I find so much to do that I often write and study late into the night, although the rules do not require me to do anything after 4 p. m.

Last week I was over to Rochester, N. Y., attending a horticultural meeting, and picked up some items of interest and tried to scatter some.

Rochester is the greatest centre of horticulture in the United States. But there are many other things at Rochester, and among them some wonderful factories. Genesee river runs through the city, and in less than two miles falls over 200 feet, which gives tremendous water power. A great race extends along each side of the river, and everything runs by water; even the city is lighted by water power, the dynamo that furnishes the electric lights are run by water and no coal is needed to make gas. We do not realize our resources, for enough power is lost at Niagara to light the whole United States, and the matter of distance is nothing for all that would be needed to light Iola with the power of Niagara Falls would be a wire to carry it there.

In Rochester they have no fire engines, for the water system is such that the natural force will throw water over the tallest buildings. The hotel elevators are run by the same hydraulic power. This, of course, is from a head of water gathered some miles above the city. But the force of the city would run all the street-car lines by cable too, and thus save horse flesh.

Here is one of the finest private art galleries in the United States, owned by Mr. Powers, who has spent millions of money in filling it with rare paintings and statuary. He tendered the privileges of the gallery to the Horticultural Society, and we spent an evening in it most delightfully. One feature of it is its division into many reasonably small rooms, all hung with different tapestry suited to the pictures on the walls.

Eastman's great photographic dry plate works are here. I was conducted all through the factory and saw how the work was done. It may not be generally known that he makes a negative plate that is paper instead of glass, so that they will never break, and they weigh so little that a great many can be carried out on expeditions with little burden. They recently fitted out in London the Stanley expedition into Africa with this material, and another great scientific expedition on the seas.

Then I went through a factory where all sorts of eye glasses and the finest of microscopes are made. It would take too long to tell how the work is done and of the various machines for polishing, etc., only I will say, that all but the finest lenses for the microscopes are ground and polished by machinery a hundred or so at a time set in pitch on a half round bead for convex or in a sort of pot shaped concern for concave surfaces. Hundreds of these whirling grinders are in one room all going at once.

One of my horticultural friends is connected with a lithographic establishment where all sorts of pretty colored fruit pictures, cards for advertising, pictures for cigar boxes and all such "fancy work." The stones upon which this work is done all come from Germany and are nearly pure line of a sort of dull gray color, and very fine grained like marble, but yet porous. I used to think the stones were cut or etched in some way to make the figures from which to print, but such is not true. The part of the figure to be printed, say in red, is drawn on the stone in a peculiar sort of paint or ink that enters the pores of the stone and remains there firmly through all the after printing. This is the "type" to receive the desired color from the color roller, and will not take the water that is sponged over the entire surface of the stone. The part that is not thus prepared does take the water from the sponge and therefore will not take the color from the roller as it passes over. The paper is then placed on the stone and receives the red impression from that part which has taken it from the roller, and is of course moistened by the bare surface of the stone. This moisture has to be evaporated by placing the printed sheets on racks. Another stone gives the green color in the same way, and sometimes five or ten colors are put on top of each other, or partially over lap in such a way as to make the delicate shades and tints that we see in the pretty chromo cards.

Warner's manufacture of "Safe Kidney Cure" is located here, and they are having new wrapper made for the bottles, of which my friends are making ten millions of copies in colors. Warner has one of the largest telescopes in the United States which I had the pleasure of looking through at Saturn with her beautiful rings and three moons, and some of the fixed stars.

The week before I was over to Pennsylvania to a horticultural meeting and may get time to tell about what I there saw and heard.

MIRACULOUS ESCAPE.
W. W. Reed, druggist, of Winchester, Ind., writes: "One of my customers, Mrs. Louisa Pike, Barton, Randolph Co., Ind., was a long sufferer with consumption, and was given up to die by her physicians. She heard of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, and began buying it of me. In six months' time she walked to this city, a distance of six miles, and is now so much improved she has quit using it. She feels she owes her life to it." Free trial bottles at Goodhue & Evans' drug store.

In the winter season a slight cold should never be neglected, the sudden changes in the weather may bring on a complication of diseases from which death may result. Dr. Jackson's Syrup of Wild Cherry and Lungwort will soothe and cure it immediately. Sold by all druggists.
